

CROSBY & CROSBY

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW

EVANSTON, WYOMING

July 21, 1932

George M. Bacon
State Engineer
Salt Lake City, Utah

Reed Hanks Matters.

Dear Mr. Bacon,

This letter is further regarding and in confirmation of our telephone conversation of a few minutes ago.

Reed Hanks is a resident of Burnt Fork, Wyoming and has a reservoir on Beaver Creek that is known as the Hoopes Lake reservoir, and it has something upwards of 800 acre feet of water in it, and he has to run about two miles in Utah and one in Wyoming through Beaver Creek and past two or three places of diversion that are in Utah. Roy Perkins is the water commissioner for Wyoming, but there is no one that is appointed for Utah yet. Mr. Hanks wants, during the next few days to begin drawing water from his reservoir and wants to get it measured into and out of Beaver Creek, and he has arranged with Mr. Perkins to see to this matter without cost to the State of Utah.

This letter is an application to you to make Mr. Roy Perkins as your field representative, at the risk of Mr. Hanks with authority to go onto Beaver Creek and to his reservoir and oversee the drawing of measuring into and out of Beaver Creek the water that is now stored. It is understood that if this adding of the water to that creek causes any loss of water Mr. Hanks will have to bear the loss.

Kindly write your letter in duplicate and send a copy of it to Reed Hanks at Burnt Fork. If there are any other or further provisions that will need to be made regarding this matter, please include it in your letter. If it is needed in order to get this matter looked after quickly to call the Crosby law office at Evanston, do so at the cost of Mr. Hanks. He is not burning up or anything of that sort yet, but he is desirous of not losing more time than is needed.

Very sincerely

